Our Mission

At dōTERRA we are committed to sharing the life-enhancing benefits of essential oils with the world. We will do this by:

- Discovering and developing the world's highest quality essential oil products through a leveraged network of highly-educated and experienced botanists, chemists, health scientists and healthcare professionals.
- Producing our essential oil products to the highest standard of quality, purity and safety used in the industry - CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade™.
- Distributing our products through Wellness Advocates who, working from home, introduce, educate and sell dōTERRA wellness products locally through person-to-person contact and globally through personalised web shopping sites.
- Providing educational opportunities for all people interested in learning how tested-grade essential oils can be used as a self-care wellness alternative.
- Bringing together healthcare professionals of traditional and alternative medicine to encourage further study and application of essential oils in modern healthcare practices.

The dōTERRA Story

In 2008, a group of healthcare and business professionals came together with a common vision of sharing the power of pure essential oils with the world. Each understood that essential oils—when properly sourced from optimal regions and thoroughly tested for the highest levels of purity and potency—are the Earth’s gift to humanity. They organised a company and named it dōTERRA, a Latin derivative meaning “Gift of the Earth”. With this gift comes great responsibility to respect the power of each element, the expertise of each grower, and the potential of each contributing community.

dōTERRA focuses on maintaining the highest levels of purity and sustainability as it collaborates with local growers around the world through Co-Impact Sourcing™. This unique model implements long-term, mutually beneficial supplier partnerships where skilled rural farmers oversee plants and growing environments. In return, dōTERRA provides jobs with fair payments, leading to stronger local economies and healthier, stable supply chains.

Each dōTERRA essential oil passes through rigorous CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade™ testing guided by cutting-edge advancements in essential oil research and testing implementation. dōTERRA benefits from the ever-increasing knowledge and expertise of a Medical Advisory Board made up of global consultants in chemistry, microbiology, botany, research science, physiology and nutritional science.

Since dōTERRA’s beginning, independent Wellness Advocates have shared the life enhancing benefits of dōTERRA CPTG™ essential oils with millions of customers throughout the world.

dōTERRA has emerged as a global integrative health and wellness company and the world’s largest essential oil company.* By partnering with respected medical professionals and world-renowned research partners, dōTERRA is revolutionising healthcare by integrating conventional medical professionals with alternative approaches to address individualised wellness.

To ensure that dōTERRA never forgets the sacredness of this gift, the dōTERRA Healing Hands Foundation™, a registered charitable organisation in the United States, offers resources and tools to global sourcing communities and charitable organisations for self-reliance, healthcare, education and sanitation, and for the fight against human trafficking.

We respectfully offer this “gift of the Earth” to you and your family.

*Verified global market leader in the Global Aromatherapy and Essential Oils market

CPTG

Certified Pure Tested Grade™

dōTERRA CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade™ essential oils are pure, natural, aromatic compounds carefully extracted from plants. They do not contain fillers or artificial ingredients that would dilute their active qualities and are free of contaminants or other chemical residues.

As important as it is to keep contaminants out of our oils, assuring the presence of the oils' active compounds at the right levels is necessary to guarantee safety and effectiveness. Many oils claim to be therapeutic grade, and some may be pure, but few are subjected to rigorous testing standards for chemical composition. dōTERRA CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade essential oils are cross tested using Mass Spectrometry and Gas Chromatography to ensure both the extract purity and composition potency of each batch.

dōTERRA works closely with a global network of leading essential oil chemists and growers to select botanicals that are of the correct species, grown in ideal environments, and are carefully harvested at the right time. The aromatic compounds of the plants are skillfully extracted by experienced distillers and subjected to chemical analysis to ensure purity and composition. dōTERRA CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade essential oils are some of the most pure and beneficial oils available in the world today.

Equally stringent standards of safety and efficacy are applied to all dōTERRA Wellness products. Guided by our Scientific Advisory Board, dōTERRA uses only top development and manufacturing partners who maintain Good Manufacturing Practice (GMP) certification and enjoy industry reputation for superior innovation and quality. Each dōTERRA product is guaranteed to exceed customer satisfaction and performance expectations.

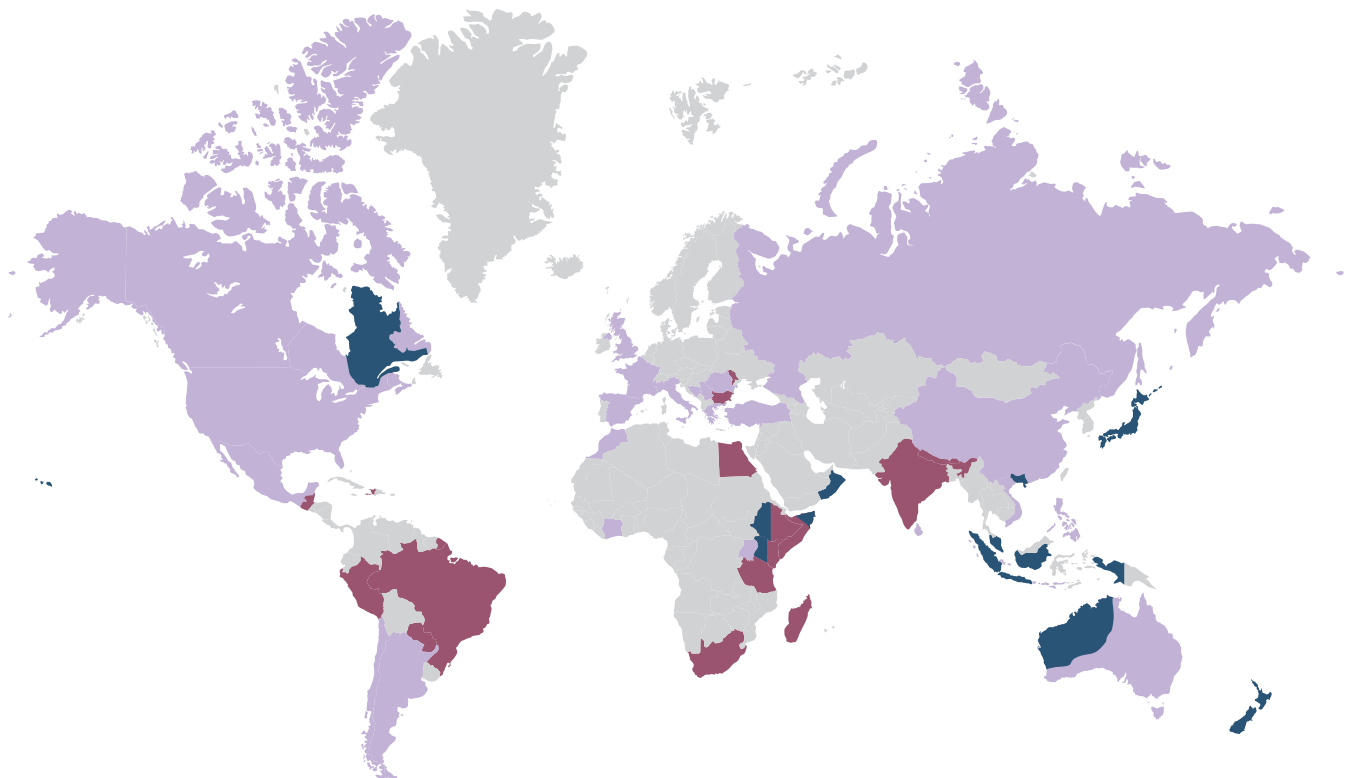

The dōTERRA network of botanical growers and distillers spans the globe from Italy to Madagascar, Argentina to New Zealand. Only the purest and most potent essential oils meet our strict CPTG Certified Pure Tested Grade™ standards.

As dōTERRA searches the world for sources of the highest quality oils, we are also committed to building relationships that last and benefit our growers. We accomplish this by adhering to our Sourcing Guiding Principles.

Over half of the countries that dōTERRA sources its more than 130 oils from are considered developing countries. Through Co-Impact Sourcing™, dōTERRA is lifting communities in these areas out of poverty and disadvantage by providing long-term, mutually beneficial supplier partnerships with sustainable jobs and reliable income.

What are Essential Oils?

Essential oils are natural aromatic compounds found in the seeds, bark, stems, roots, flowers and other parts of plants. Their fragrance can be both beautiful and powerful. If you have ever enjoyed the gift of a rose, a walk by a field of lavender, or the smell of freshly cut mint, you have experienced the aromatic qualities of essential oils. Essential oils can lift the mood, calm the senses and elicit powerful emotional responses. Yet the use of essential oils goes well beyond their fragrant appeal.

Essential oils have been used throughout history in many cultures for their health-promoting properties. Modern trends toward more holistic approaches to self-care and growing scientific validation of alternative health practices are driving a rediscovery of the profound health benefits of essential oils. Many have powerful properties. Their unique chemical structure allows them to deliver targeted benefits through topical application and certain oils may be used internally.

Extraction Methods

Essential oils are most often extracted using a low-heat steam distillation process in which steam is circulated under pressure through plant material, liberating the essential oils into the steam. As the steam mixture cools, the water and oils separate and the oil is collected in its pure form. To ensure the highest quality oil extract of correct chemical composition, temperature and pressure must be monitored very closely. Too little heat and pressure will not release the valuable oil; too much can fracture an extract's delicate chemical composition and alter its potency.

Equally important to the meticulous extraction process is the careful selection of which plant species, plant parts and harvesting methods will produce the most pure and potent essential oils. This complex process is as much an art form as it is a science and requires experienced growers and distillers working together to ensure a superior product.

Uses

Essential oils are used for a very wide range of emotional and physical applications. They can be used individually or in complex blends depending on the specific need and desired results. Using essential oils can be both profoundly simple and life changing at the same time. However, working with an experienced essential oil user will help the novice have a more beneficial and enjoyable experience.

Essential oils contain powerfully concentrated botanical extracts and should be used only as directed. They are, however, powerfully concentrated and should be used with care. Be sure to use only pure essential oils and follow all label warnings and instructions. Essential oils should never be used in the eyes or inside the ear canal. If redness or irritation occurs when using essential oils topically, apply a carrier oil such as Fractionated Coconut Oil to the affected area—water will not dilute essential oils. Consult your medical professional before using essential oils if you are pregnant or under a doctor's care.

Essential Oils Quick Reference

The quick reference tables over the next few pages will help you to

- understand how a particular oil is registered, supporting you in using the product in the best way.
- discover which oils are in your favourite category – do you love florals, mints or spices?
- learn which are hot oils and citrus oils and why this is important.

What is Oil Registration? To follow regulations across Europe, all of our oils are registered under one of two categories: food flavouring or skincare (cosmetic). The details that we give about each oil are decided by the category of registration.

I've heard the phrase 'hot oil' – what does this mean? Some essential oils are very powerful and should always be diluted with a carrier oil, such as Fractionated Coconut Oil, before putting them on your skin. These are known as 'hot oils'.

Can citrus oils cause photo-sensitivity? Some citrus oils can cause photo-sensitivity, which cause you to sunburn more easily. It's best to stay out of any UV light (sunlight or tanning beds) for at least 12 hours after applying them to your skin.
